In other action, the Senate appointed Eldor Weyrens, senior, to head a special committee to improve and expand Further Education appropriated $25 to enable Wartburg to send a delegation to the mock United Nations and Senate Committee meetings at the Union game room.

According to Remmers, all details have not yet been worked out regarding this year's project of purchasing high fidelity record equipment for the Student Memorial Union.

Committee At Work

A special committee composed of Arthur Roger Hilpert, Weyrens and sophs Evy Jansen are investigating the equipment to be purchased.

No definite goal has been set although the Senate has previously mended a minimum of $1,000 and maximum of $2,000. The final goal must have the approval of the executive committee before it is supported by the middle of February. An elaborate campaign has been formulated by the committee and will be conducted on a climax to Fund Raising activities.

Student Body Pres. Don Manthei reported that a letter was received from a special committee at Luther College asking that reconsideration be carried on toward the letter of invitation sent to the Student Council of Wartburg to Pick Senate action given authority to appoint a special committee to investigate. Any plans will have to be OK'd by the Senate.

In corresponding fees for the mock UN session at the University of Wisconsin, March 22-24, the Senate appointed that a minimum fee of $15 be paid and recommended that a full delegation of five attend the meeting.

Complaints were heard that women were not allowed smoking at the Union recreation room. The matter was referred to the SMU Council.

ON THE SUNNY SIDE OF THE STREET

Groups Offer Unique Privilege

By Myrna See

Sleathily, his cloak held so as to hide his features, the Christian crept through the night to the meeting place. He has been discovered, persecution and death would follow.

How this believer would have enjoyed walking openly down a sunny street at 9 a.m. to a brick corner building to hear and study the God's word without fear. This is a privilege Wartburg students may enjoy in the weekly Bible Discussion groups held at 9:30 in the parish house.

Student-led-and-organized, these Sunday morning sessions are a unique Wartburg institution. No other church college is known to have a similar program which is so successfully supported by students.

Voluntary attendance this past semester has averaged 120 students. Directed by John Beem, junior, and Geraldine Zambrunnen, participants have found fellowship in the study of the Bible and enlightenment from learning others' points of view.

In the coming semester, 16 leaders will share the task of faithful preparation for the eight groups. Students may choose to examine "Knight Life" with junior Vincent Hasselblad, "Christianity and Art" or explore "The Purpose of My Life" with Dr. Paul Ehlen, chairman, senior and junior.

For the curious, sophs Judy Gore

BIBLE DISCUSSION GROUP leaders gather in Miss Wolff's classroom to discuss methods and procedures for the informal Sunday morning study sessions. Seated are group chairman John Beem.

and Geraldine Zambrunnen will explain "The Dared." Juniors Lary Antholt and Marvin Reuteurs will stimulate thinking on Romans 8 "I Believe" is the topic of sophomore Erwin Janssen and Mary Ann Hoffmann.

Discuss Faith, Humility

You may discuss "Faith" with soph Gloria Beiles and junior Fred to teach to."

Hesterberg, "Humility" with Hal Hinrichs and Darold Beckmann, juniors, or "Christian Sufferings" with Vern Hasler and Eugene Van Driel.

Your own peculiar worth is definitely welcome. We're not teachers, Antholt said. Bible study, he says, "We can't teach without somebody to learn."

Study Abroad

Have you ever thought of studying abroad? It isn't a very far-fetched idea, and here's why.

Last year more than nine thousand United States students studied in foreign countries. Of course, many of them paid their own expenses, but a considerable number of them lived and studied under scholarships offered by such organizations as the National Research Council, the Council for Financial Aid to Education and others.

Prominent among the groups that encourage study abroad is the Institute of International Education, which has its headquarters in New York. A recent survey by that Institute revealed that in 1954-55, students of this country studied in 47 foreign countries and political areas. Almost 59 per cent of the group was enrolled in European schools.

Weekly, almost daily, the TRUMPET mail box is stuffed with correspondence offering assistance to students who might be interested in study abroad. Recently, for example, a letter from the National Academy of Sciences, which plans to award approximately 700 graduate and 60 postdoctoral fellowships in scientific study during the coming academic year.

If you have a yearning to study in Italy, England, the Scandinavian countries or any other place, drop over to the TRUMPET office. Maybe we can help you stamp your passport.

—By John Baker

"What dya think of the political situation?" Beats me. How should I know?"

It's a moot point whether this is the typical attitude of the college student toward politics. With the past month two groups have been organized on campus aimed at combating this feeling of political indifference, namely the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans.

Both groups have been long on enthusiasm, but short of that all important component—numbers. Students should become aware of the facts that they are citizens as well as students, and that out of these ranks will arise the future leaders of both church and state.

The good citizen is a well-informed one. One of the best ways to become acquainted with meanings of American democracy is through active participation in organizations such as these. The practical insight and education in democracy, attend the meetings of either organizations.

Oh, the tyranny of gossip. Rumor has it that your clean-living columnist was stuck in a Waterloo cemetery last week. What's more, rumor has it that I was with a girl.

Now to illuminate the facts. I was not stuck in any cemetery. Also I wasn't out on a lover's country road, no. I didn't run out of gas. Yes, I was with a girl—that part wasn't rumor. Yes then was a flat tire—I'm not denying it.

No, we didn't just sit there. Yes we got back to Waverly. We flagged a service station. We still belong to AAA.

Another previous night I had my overcoat pocket picked in Fischer. Man, keep your eyes open. We must band together and fight this evil. I'm even willing to offer a reward.

Do you hate girls? Then here is your opportunity to see Dan Raeder exhibit the possibilities of making this unusual combination. Dan's training is difficult. The discipline is rigid. But the reward is absolutely nothing.

GLOBULAR GLIBBLINGS

Dulles Stirs Opinions In Life

By Don Oberdorfer

An issue of public interest during the last few weeks has been the statement made by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles concerning his policy of securing peace through the maintenance of armed force.

Needless to say, the statement aroused a flurry of public comment criticizing this admirably anti-American attitude.

Oberdorfer

When questioned by reporters, Dulles attempted to clarify his statement.

The article, which appeared in Life Magazine, stated that the U. S. policy of strength had deterred the communists from full-scale war in Korea, Formosa and other Asian sectors. The statement also implies that the U. S. will not hesitate to use atomic weapons if the situation is, it should be emphasized that this action must always be geared to fight for the freedom that has so long been a symbol of our land.

Says Dulles: "I believe that the United States should adopt every means to avoid unique engagement in war. I believe, however, that there are basic moral values with and vital interests for which we stand, and that the surest way to peace is to let it be made known in advance that we are prepared to defend these principles, if need be, by life itself."

The Secretary of State entertains an excellent point in this statement. Unless this notion is prepared to show that it will back threats of life, then there may be danger. Failure to state our position may only bring war closer to other aggressor nations which might misjudge or miscalculate our purpose.

Naturally, this country, like any other civilized nation, should not use conciliatory means for gaining peace before filling back on threats of arms. It is necessary to be patient, conciliatory and to maintain the hope that the world that peace is vital to all of us.

For some time Capitol Hill seethed in segmentation for and against Dulles. Some even went as far as to request his resignation. The matter, skilled as it seems to be, has brought American face to face with the problem once we attempting to maintain peace by force or by realizing that the actual existence of us all depends on our good will toward men?

IN CHINA— A GATHERING OF THE KILN

National Hobby Week, ending today, didn't go totally unnoticed on the Wartburg campus, for it did go to art.

Complication? Not if you were to observe Dr. Katherine Love, German Department. In her hours away from her Luther Hall desk, Painting china, an art almost lost to America and different enough from the ceramic kiln now popular at the present time, provides Mrs. Love with a hobby that she finds a delight and a work that she considers a challenge.

"This art was introduced into America during the early century," stated Mrs. Love, "At that time three china painters came to this country from Europe. Two of them was direct from the famous Dresden China Works in Dresden, Germany.

He with the other two men, taught the art in America and even as Archer Fennimore, who died 87 years old, was a pupil of Audeh."

Using special china paints the first applies the shadows and the artistic is then fired in a special kiln called a muffle. Several more painting and firings are needed to achieve completion. Every piece is fired at least five times, Mrs. Love said.

"Gold decoration," she explained, "requires a fifth. Love, will take as many as two or three firings, and the use of lower or higher degrees of temperature, so an article sometimes requires five or six firings. This work is done in the muffle kiln.

Fruits and flowers seem to be the most common subjects portrayed in this art, and all types and vital interests for which we stand, and that the surest way to peace is to let it be made known in advance that we are prepared to defend these principles, if need be, by life itself."

IN ARTIST SERIES TWIN BILL

Fans Get Memorable Moments

By Marsha Arhart

Artist Series fans were given moments to remember last week when, within a span of five days, the Black Hills Passion Play and Robert Mc-Ferrin, richly gifted baritone, visited the Wartburg campus.

Minutes after Robert Ferris stepped out onto the stage of Knight Auditorium on Thursday evening, he succeeded in gaining the attention of all. And the attention of all was soon to be rewarded with the magnificent, controlled and expressive voice of one of America's finest contemporary baritones.

Beginning with Bach's "Darum Sollt ihr nicht sorgen," the golden-voiced Negro demonstrated versatility, singing numbers ranging from Schubert compositions, "Erl ka," from Verdi's "Un Ballo in Maschera," to Negro spirituals, "His Name So Sweet" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

The fourth part of the concert brought forth McFerrin's sparkling qualities of resonance and superb impressionistic technique as he sang selections of Duparc, Faure and Ravel.

McFerrin then captivated the audience in the concluding section of the program when he sang Norman Dello Joio's "The Creed of Brave Cuerbois," which tells of the inner struggle of the Huguenots in France in their efforts to justify religious hatred. Son of Are to her death at the stake.

Enthusiastic applause brought McFerrin back for two encores. With "Old Man River" and "Water Boy" he won himself a permanent place in the audience's list of "favorite singers."

Following the concert, McFerrin said, "I like to sing for the people and the organizations. He says, The audience was very receptive. Tonight he was not as actually an anniversary for me. It was exactly one year ago that I made my debut at the Metropolitan Opera House."

Presented to capacity house crowds at both matinee and evening performances, the Black Hills Passion Play vividly portrayed the momentous final days of Jesus Christ and His troupe, in its cast since the performance on the city by its winter home in Lake Wales, Fla., stirred the audience with its strikingly realistic revival of Christ's betrayal, His crucifixion and, finally, His resurrection.

Josef Meier, who has been playing the role of Christ since he was 10 weeks old, interpreted his part with amazing dexterity. His silence sincerely captured for him the hearts of the viewers.

Supporting Meier was a cast of over two hundred, drawn largely from local townspeople, faculty members and college students. Directors Mrs. Clara Hume Meier solemnly and nobly depicted the author of Christ, Mary.

Spectacular lighting, brilliantly fluffy costuming, highlighted by a sky of blue, set the proper atmosphere for each of the 22 scenes in the stirring production. A magnificent chalice used in the institution of the Last Supper transmitted the significance of the scene.

Moving was the scene in which Christ was lowered from the cross. The dull clanking of the crucifixion being driven from Christ's hands, the groping of the Body of Christ by His mother, the mournful wail at hearing the Body to the grave—all were performed with an artist's touch.

GRIM ENFORCERS at imperial law? No, more than likely when Evan Davis, Don Oberdorfer, John Hess and Harvey Kroegel appear without the beards and costumes they donned along with more than thirty other Passion Play extras from the Wartburg community, you won't even be frightened.

Building Plans Call For Addition To Centennial

Plans are moving rapidly toward the construction of additional dormitory space adjoining Centennial Hall, according to Business Manager Henry Engelbrecht.

The addition to be built south of the present wing extending toward Evers. C. H. Becker's home, will house approximately one hundred twenty girls. Construction, Engelbrecht said, will probably get under way next summer.

A two storey home, a reception room and a trunk storage room will be located in the new construction. A central telephone service for the entire wing will also be located in the new wing.

THE TRUMPET RECOMMENDS

Knight Crusades For Eisenhower

"Never have so many owed so much to so few."

These are the words of the noted English statesman and former Prime Ministerof Britain, Winston Churchill, paying tribute to the English fighting men during World War II.

Schroeder

This immortal aphorism is just as applicable to the American soldier, and there is no one better qualified to prove it than our President, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

His voluminous work "Crusade in Europe" embodies the same theme as Churchill's statement. His historical masterpiece is literally dedicated to the Allied soldiers, sailors and airmen who fought for liberty and freedom between September 2, 1945.

Six long bitter years filled with 1,022,168 mainland or dead Americans are accounted for in this volume which will make you proud to be a citizen of the United States.

Ike's military career began early in World War I. Assigned to the Philippines prior to America's entry into the conflict, he was ordered back to the States in 1917 to train troops for overseas service.

Following World War I, Eisenhower attended the Command and General Staff School and the Army War College. He served as assistant to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines helping them to strengthen their armed forces.

He was called back to Fort Lewis and Camp Polk in the fifth Army for armed superiority in the world.

His meteoric rise from military obscurity to Allied first general finally to Allied Supreme Commander is the fascinating theme of this colorful story of his military genius.

This is the comprehensive story of a man, his methods and his views. The reader will suffer every disappointment as Eisenhower attempts to get the stricken American nation back on its feet after Pearl Harbor. He will rejoice with Eisenhower's march to victory in Africa and Field Marshal Rommel is thrown out of the coveted African desert.

He will be exhilerated when the first Allied troops touch European soil at Salerno, and the first spade of the Axis breaks when the nations surrender. The intricacies of Eisenhower's Overlord will thrill him, to the core, and he will rise to step up with the pursuit across France.

The surrender of General Jodl on May 7, 1945, and finally the description of the diplomatic maneuvering at the Russians in their attempt to create chaos will hold the reader spellbound up to the last clause.

And all through this the reader will feel the strength of Eisenhower, who was by this time a very real person. The book itself is written in a smooth style and is documented with maps and recovered Nazi plans.

"Crusade in Europe" is a valuable military textbook and historical work. Eisenhower said in this way: "We believe individual liberty, rooted in human dignity, is the highest conception of government. It says, given free expression of this will, freer institutions and self-confidence to discharge and enforce it."

Knights Face Do Or Die Trail

To Simpson, Then Pella

By Bill Melvin

Wartburg, with every Iowa Conference game looming as a must in the tightening loop race, invades Indianola Friday night for a date with last place Simpson. On Saturday the Knights move on to Pella to face Central.

The Knights go against a Simpson team that has dropped only one victory in seven outings this season. The Redmen's victory came over Upper Iowa in conference play at the time the Peps have been suffered in loop action.

Despite a number of seven letter men, this year's Simpson team is liberally sprinkled with freshman talent. Sophomore Larry Bishop and senior guard Jorgensen have been the main scoring threats, thus far.

Need Big Men

Coach Les Deaton's team has been plagued by the lack of a big man in the lineup. The tallest starter is listed as 6'2". Despite this weakness the team has averaged 68 points a game in conference play, but the opponents have put an average of 79.

A torrid shooting exhibition that produced a balanced scoring attack with 26 points, while John Adix contributed 20.

Wartburg 74, Grinnell 72

The Knights overcame the 30 point fling of center John Musser and defeated non-conference foe Grinnell 74-72 in Knights Gymnasium on Jan. 14.

Mel Fraher's clutch basket and free throw with one minute and 26 seconds remaining gave Wartburg a 72-68 edge, but it took two free throws by Art Winston with just thirty seconds left to offset a final Grinnell basket at the horn.

Margheim topped the Wartburg scorers with 24 points.

Wartburg 92, Wesleyan 83

Fueled too much for Iowa Wesleyan last Saturday night in Knights Gymnasium as Wartburg racked up a 92-83 conference victory.

Leading 48-35 at the half, the Knights weathered a determined Tiger rally at 70-65 and then pulled away to lead by as much as 15 points in the waning minutes.

Art Margheim led the scoring

BIG JOHN ADIX seems to be patting a big kick out of basket ball, but his opponent isn't enjoying it much. The appearance of an Adix on the hardwoods is an every day occurrence, but it still has kept the other team up in the air with concern.

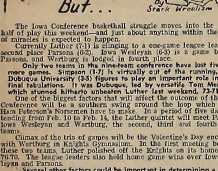
*Does not include game with Buena Vista.



The Iowa Conference basketball struggle moves into the second half of play this weekend—and just about anything within the realm of miracles is expected to happen.

Currently Luther (7-1) is clinging to a one-game league lead over second place Parsons. Iowa Wesleyan (6-3) is three games back of Parsons, and Wartburg is lodged in fourth place.

Only two teams in the nine-team conference have lost five or more games. Simpson (17) is virtually out of the running, but Dubuque University (3-5) figures to play an important role in the final tabulations. It was Dubuque, led by versatile Tom Merritt, which defeated Wartburg unbeaten team last weekend, 73-71.

One of the biggest factors that will affect the outcome of the Iowa Conference will be a southern swing around the loop which Coach Hans Petersen's Norsemen have to make. In a period of five days, ex-tending from Feb. 10 to Feb. 14, the Luther quintet will meet Dubuque, Iowa Wesleyan and Wartburg, the second, third and fourth place clubs.

Closest thing to the trio of games will be the Valentine's Day contest with Wartburg in Knights Gymnasium. In the first meeting between these two teams, Luther polished off the Knights on its home floor 76-70. The league leaders also hold home game wins over Iowa Wesleyan and Parsons.

Several other factors could be important in determining a loop winner. Luther has lost the services of 6'4" frosh star forward Dwayne Wolfred, who completed his college athletic eligibility at the end of his semester. Iowa Wesleyan, in turn, will gain sophomore Don Gibbs, 6'7" transfer, who becomes eligible beginning this semester.

Clearing the Boards. Parsons leads the loop offensively with a per game average of 86 points, while Wartburg is second with an average of 79. Luther Center Harlin Wilson looks his way to a total scoring mark of 39 last week when he plunked in 40 points in an 83-68 upset spook of Simpson.

Best defensive mark in the loop is held by Central, which has held its opponents to a 68.8 per game average. Luther is close behind, limiting its opposition to 68.4 . . . in a pre-game story appearance in the Dubuque Telegraph Herald newspaper it was suggested that the Norsemen sports writer concluded his story with "... they (the Dubuque Spartans) could upset Luther."

JUST AN OLD TRADITION

Parade Of Adixes—Bill, Bob, Now John—Causes Grey Hair

By Bill Melvin

Adix, that name in itself doesn't sound ominous or threatening, but put on a basketball court and it's a name almost used above it to the cowls of one of Wartburg's basketball rivals—he probably will develop insomnia and sprout grey hair.

Right now, of course, the Adix that causes the most fear is that of sophomore John, who prepped at West Waterloo before joining the ranks of the Knights. In the past four years, however, a couple of other Adix, Bob and Bill, cousins of John's from Monument, have spanned as the villains in the Knight lineup.

In his senior year at Wartburg, the Adix brothers amassed just about every Wartburg scoring record within their grasp and led the Knights to some of their most successful seasons.

Gets Early Start

John first broke into the starting lineup for Wartburg last year as a freshman and, much to the woe of the opponents, had a successful season, combining his talents so well with cousin Bob and the rest of the squad that the Knights walked off with the Iowa Conference championship.

This year, with the high scoring Bob graduated, the opposing coaches were expecting relief from their Adix troubles, but John ended their dreams.

Already during the current season, John has done a remarkable job of keeping the Adix tradition. Although the shortest of the Adixes at 6'2", he has become a real threat in the scoring and rebounding departments where his taller cousins previously excelled.

Exploiting an accurate fade away jumping shot from the deep sides and corners, John is virtually unguardable by his opponents. Thus far this season he has averaged over 15 points per game in conference competition.

Parsons Jinxed

When queried about this year's conference schedule, John said, "I believe the Parsons club is the best team we've faced this year." But he hastily added, "Luther was tough, too."

John has two years of competition ahead of him, the next two seasons will still find rival coaches shaking up their sheet and scoring the name Adix. Undoubtedly when they watch round John display his wares on the hardwood, they'll also draw inside stepping and concealing their grey hair.

Knights Propel To 96-90 Win

Forced To Overcome 9 Point Halftime Deficit; Morgheim Gets 34; Bahlmann, Havemann, 20

By Dale Kopitzke

Setting a torrid second half pace, the Knights broke the Buena Vista juggernaut jinx as they rolled to a 96-90 victory at Storm Lake last night.

It was all BV in the first half as Wartburg, unable to get started, trailed 49-40 at the midpoint. The Oppenent virtually repeated in the start of the final period as they took a 51-40 lead after 4:00 had passed and held it the rest of the way.

The win gave the Knight cagers a 4-3 conference record and put them in contention for second or third berths (4-3) and Buena Vista (4-2). Cornell (5-2) is first in the conference tilts for the Beavers.

Only 5 Score

Only five men entered the scoring column for the Wartburg hard court men with Art Morgheim dumping in 34 points on 16 field goals and 2 charity tosses to lead the point parade.

Al Bahlmann and Roy Havemann followed Morgheim with 20 points apiece, while Maynard Mittgaard totaled 14. John Wiese had 8 included in Bahlmann's total were 10 free throws, eight coming in the second.

Bill Richard and Jerry Busch led the Beavers scoring attack as they totaled 58 out of 90 points. Dick Enderbee added 10 points to Buena Vista's total.

Real Hot Knight

Percentagewise, Knight cagers set a red hot pace as they hit on 46.6 per cent of their shots. Opponent Cornell a distinct height advantage over BV.

The contest was in complete contrast to last year's game at Storm Lake, which Buena Vista copped, 79 to 61 after outscoring Wartburg 23-8 from the foul line. Last night the Knights kept their 23 free tosses to BV's 20 to provide the margin of victory.

Playing in the preliminary game, the Sputniks outpointed the Beaver 'B' squad, 82-55.

Matmen Seek Revenge Tues. Against Dubuque University

By Gary Bluhm

Even all around with a record of 10-1, Coach Norm Johansen's wrestling squad will get a chance to improve during Dubuque University Tuesday evening at 8:00 in Knights Gymnasium.

Earlier in the season, the Knight grapplers dropped a match to Dubuque and the outcome was undecided until the last bout.

Knights Fall Close

Last Friday night the squad found themselves away from an earlier commitment and journeyed South Dakota State to a 14-14 deadlock. Wartburg started the meet on first choice in the lighter weights but again the meet was decided in the final match.

Quarry Schumbert, heavyweight, was forced to wrap a defensive ball to avoid a fall, thus salvaging a tie for his mates.

SD Gets Only Pin

Only pin of the evening came when South Dakota's Gus Giedler threw Gerry Leinaweber in 2:05. Jim Woodrow barely missed getting a fall for the Knights when he had Giedler on his back but unable to settle for a 7-4 decision over Del Ohlsen.

In the opening match Maynard Wyers scored a 3-0 win in the 123-lb. class. Dick Chalfivoid, another Knight year, followed with a 9-0 win in the 130-lb. division. Tom Woodrow decisioned Ash Nash 12-5.

Eugene Daley decisioned Warren Schwarz, Mayers, 4-1, and Eugene Ostrogge stopped a SD match to Jack Painter of South Dakota.

No Loop Changes In College Bowling

No changes occurred in the league standings, but some old records were erased and new ones established during the last two weeks in the Intramural Bowling League.

Two weeks ago Walter Vocke hit high game and series total for the season with a 245 and 568 as Waverly Hall won all four games from Hilltop Cafe. John Krellick of Cedar Lawn rolled 161, 209 and 200 for a 568 series. His two consecutive 200's is a record this year.

Last Wednesday two more 200 games were recorded in the scorebooks. George Hanson of Daily Bar hit 208 in his second game to give his team a victory over Bowl Ian Builders won the series, however, 3-1.

Phil Moeller rolled a 222 high game last Wednesday, then added games of 199 and 178 for a 599 high series, copping top honors in both departments.

Jay Vees Capture Two; Now Own 5-3 Record

Junior varsity cagers, coached by Bob Campbell, now possess a 5-3 record as a result of easy wins over Grinnell and Waverly last Saturday during the past week.

On Jan. 14 the yearlings smashed Grinnell 49-31, and on Jan. 20 they lashed out at the Waverly Air Base, compiling to a 72-50 verdict.

Pacing Campbell's quintet have been Jim Schwarz, Wayne Slack and Dale Mueller. Ken Hartman has been coming on strong.

Lettermen Name Al Bahlmann As Jan. 'Athlete' For Outstanding Performance On Hardcourts

By John Polis

Al Bahlmann, junior, was selected December Athlete-of-the-Month by 'W' club members on the basis of his basketball accomplishments last month.

A graduate of Waverly high school in 1951, Al enrolls-d in Wartburg the same year and continued his education until two years later when he was called into the army.

Active in Track

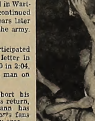
While in college he participated in basketball and won a letter in track where he ran the 880 in the mile and was the fog man on the relay team.

His Army hitch cut short his sports career, but since his return the name of Al Bahlmann has become well-known to sports fans of the college and Waverly area.

Al Averages 11.7

Currently hitting 11.7 points per game, Al owns the best shooting average from the field—48 per cent. Attempting 111 shots, he has netted 50.

The 6'1" junior is pursuing subjects in the Business Administration course, but has not decided upon his major. When informed of being elected "Athlete" Al was greatly surprised. This was the first time he has received the honor.



AL BAHLMANN graphically demonstrates the reason for his selection as January "Athlete-of-the-Month" as he nets two for the Knights. His opponents can't bear to look on.
